Bandipur safari point moves to Melukamanahalli

Mysuru, June 2 (MTY&BCT)- The safari start point at Bandipur Tiger Reserve has moved out of the core forest area as per the wildlife guidelines. This morning, the safari began at Melukamanahalli beyond 4 kilometres from the core forest area near the State Tiger Protection Force quarters. Over 300 people took the safari in seven buses and 5 Gypsy vehicles.

Henceforth, the safari will permanently start from Melukamanahalli and the Forest Department has made elaborate arrangements for this in a two-acre land. Visitors have to park their vehicles near the Melukamanahalli Gate and take the safari.

The new facility was inaugurated today by Gundlupet MLA C.S. Niranjan Kumar. Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director T. Balakrishna, ACFs Ravikumar, Paramesh and Nataraj, RFO Srinivas, DRFO Shivakumar and others were present.

Change in safari timings

As the new location is 4 kms from the earlier safari start point, the Department has made some changes in the safari timings to factor in the distance so that the actual safari timing of one hour is not disturbed. Half-an-hour has been added to the existing safari timings. The early morning safari will henceforth begin at 6.15 am and will end at 7.45 am. (see table for details). The new safari point comes under Gopalaswamy Forest range.

As per conservation guidelines

The safari start point has been shifted as per wildlife and conservation guidelines. The earlier safari start point was located inside the core area of the forests. On an average, over 400 tourist vehicles would enter the core area to take the safari and during weekends and holidays, the vehicle population would double or treble.

This apart, tourist buses travelling on NH-67 (now NH-181) that connects Karnataka to Tamil Nadu that cuts through Bandipur Tiger Reserve stop at the ticket counter for tourists to use the rest rooms. All these increased pressure on animals and violated the wildlife guidelines. Hence the decision has been taken to move the safari point, said Forest officials.

LEARNING AND UNLEARNING IN A TELANGANA VILLAGE: When five officer trainees were sent to a remote Telangana village as part of their training, they had high hopes of making an impact in the allotted one week's time. What happened instead might shock you.

For what could these educated wide-eyed urban youngsters really teach the people of a remote village? All households already sent their children to the village English medium high school. They had their babies immunised and would drop them off at the local anganwadi centre before working in the fields. They had been, at a slow but steady pace, setting up toilets in their homes using government funds. They also had been availing the benefits of the Rythu Bandhu Scheme to get direct cash payments for agricultural inputs.

So the trainees did the next best thing. They tried to learn from this visit. They learnt that broken English has little to do with the self-confidence of bright young minds. They saw how the warm smiles of teachers can control school drop-out rates. They learnt that contentment only requires the bare minimum amenities. They also realised that the language barrier does not matter while communicating with enthusiastic locals. They saw, from close quarters, how the best cooks can do wonders with a limited set of ingredients (provided they are told not to add spices).

This might have given an impression of romanticising poverty. However, is it really poverty, if homes with thatched roofs have a TV set and mobile phones? Or if shortage of clean water is accompanied by continuous electricity supply?

Portraits of birds on cups of coffee

Tokyo: A hobbyist barista and bird lover from Japan named Ku-san, has been drawing a lot of attention for meticulously drawing detailed portraits of various bird species on cups of coffee, using colored milk foam.

The amateur latte artist was inspired to create drinkable bird portraits on coffee by her own pet, Sakura, a pink Bourke's parrot. She started posting the fruits of her painstaking labor on social media, and soon people started asking her to do portraits of their own birds.

Her impressive portfolio of bird portraits on coffee includes cockatiels, sparrows, and parrots, but a more detailed look at her Instagram page reveals that she's more than able to take on other animals, like wolves, bunnies and even cute cartoon characters.

Woman gets her head stuck to metal grate

La Virginia: A woman, who wanted to check if her neighbour was home got her hed stuck in the front door metal grate after she put her head through the grate. The unnamed woman from La Virginia in Columbia had to be rescued after spending five hours with her head stuck in a neighbor's front door metal grate. It's not clear if the woman intended to spy on her neighbor, or if she merely stuck her head through the grate to see if there was anyone home, but one thing's for sure – when she tried to pull her head back through the grate, she realized she wasn't going anywhere.

Someone heard her cries for help and called the Police, who took five hours to free the woman. Photos of smiling policemen and firemen working to free the woman have been doing the rounds on Latino social media.

VOICE OF THE READER

India needs a Two-Party system like in US and UK

Sir,

With a landslide victory of the ruling party (BJP) for the second term, many Opposition leaders and the so-called intellectuals have doubted the EVMs and even gone to the extent of accusing the winners using money power. They also believe that Democracy in India is in peril and it is now "Goonda Raaj."

When I posed the same question to my morning walking-mate, he seems to believe that a strong Opposition is an integral part of Democracy. He also blamed indirectly the ruling Party not to let a healthy Opposition grow! I on the other hand firmly believe that the Opposition themselves would have to re-jig their act and put up a combined act with a common ideology.

In order to achieve this, India definitely needs a Two-Party system, somewhat like USA and UK based only on ideology. If the first one is a right of centre party, the second one could be left of centre. Regional party leaders would have to give up their individual aspirations of becoming PM and work for a common goal.

Most importantly, the parties must have transparent internal Democracy with leaders emerging from Zilla Panchayats, City Corporations, District and State levels and finally emerging as national leaders. Whichever party can achieve this pyramid system will eventually succeed and form a Government which will then be truly Democratic.

At the moment one Party seems to possess this kind of cadre-based hierarchy and they seem to reap the benefit. Mind you, it has not come in a day but taken 30 long years to get an absolute majority in the Parliament. Other parties can use their method of working as a template and follow their footsteps. Only then we can have a true Democracy.

Forest Department continues to plant saplings under power lines

Mysuru, June 2-This is the environment month and the Forest Department is always in the forefront of celebrating it by planting or distributing saplings . They also create awareness programmes and hold seminars and conferences on the importance of greening the city.

However, all these homilies sound shallow when the fence itself becomes the thief. This is exactly what the Forest Department either in its ignorance or callousness has proved.

The public is now angry because the Forest Department has planted saplings right under the power lines in Vasanthnagar Extension knowing fully well that it should not be done.

A few months ago the public had taken strong exception when the Forest Department had planted saplings under the power lines at KC Nagar, JP Nagar and other layouts in the city. This issue was reported in Star of Mysore thus drawing the attention of the Forest Department.

However, this seems to have had no impact on the department as it has continued to follow the unscientific way of planting saplings under the power lines.

When the saplings grow into trees, the branches will touch the power lines and it could lead to unpleasant consequences.

In spite of public asking the Forest Department to plant the saplings in vacant places, the pleas have been futile. The department seems to mock at the public by daring them by saying it is our duty to plant the saplings and we will continue to do it.

DSS holds introspection and District General Body meeting

Mysuru, June 2 (PM&DM)- As part of Dr.B.R. Ambedkar Jayanti celebration, the Mysuru District Unit of Karnataka Dalit Sangharsha Samiti (DSS-Ambedkar Vada) held a day-long introspection and General Body meeting at the Institution of Engineers Hall on JLB road here yesterday.

K. Siddarajau Doddahinduwadi who presided over the meeting, explained the growth of the DSS over the years ever since it was founded by Prof. B. Krishnappa over two decades ago.

Regretting the breaking up of the DSS, a once strong organisation into several factions today, Siddaraju bemoaned that the DSS could not get the desired results because of factionalism and internal differences.

Stressing on the need for unity among dalit communities, he said that patience can bring dividends to the organisation. Pointing out that Dr. Ambedkar had enormous patience and this took him to great heights, he said that Dr. Ambedkar's principles have played a crucial role in social reforms.

Noting that opposing 'Manu Dharma' alone cannot bring benefits to dalit communities, he emphasized on the need for dalits to thoroughly understand the essence of the Indian Constitution written by Dr. Ambedkar and move forward based on the ideals of the Constitution. DSS office-bearers Ningaraj Malladi, K. Nanjappa, K. Govindaraju and others were present.

MLA Ramdas performs guddali puja for UGD works

MLA S.A. Ramdas performing guddali puja for the commencement of underground drainage works on Akkamahadevi Road at Vidyaranyapuram in city on Friday as Corporator Shantamma Vadivelu, AEE Shivanna and others look on.

Mysuru, June 2 (RKB&NNN)- MLA S.A. Ramdas performed guddali puja for the commencement of the underground drainage works worth Rs. 50 lakh in front of a petrol bunk on Akkamahadevi Road in Vidyaranyapuram, here on Friday.

The Underground Drainage (UGD) Department of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has taken up the works and the drainage will be laid from Akkamahadevi Road and pass through where Bombay Tiffanys is located and will be connected to the main drainage on 30 Feet Road, said Ramdas.

Since the past couple of years, there is a proliferation of apartments and choultries in this area and hence the UGD was always overflowing. When it rains the rainwater is also overflowing. Realising the problem, the work on the UGD was started, he said.

Ramdas asked the officials to complete the work at the earliest so that the people in the area are not inconvenienced.

The drainage work on either side of the road, from Chamundi Vana to Ring Road worth an estimated Rs. 6 crore began some time ago will be completed shortly. The residents of Vidyaranyapuram living in 28 to 32 Cross were complaining of the problems they were facing during rainy season and hence this important work has been taken up, he said.

Corporator Shantamma Vadivelu, Assistant Executive Engineer Shivanna, Contractor B. Nagegowda, leaders Kaliyamurthy, Devarajegowda, Nagendra, Suresh, Murugesh, Rajanna, Raju, Papanna, Adi, Girish and others were present.

PUC student made to suffer due to irresponsibility of officials

Mysuru, June 2- Accusing PU Department officials of irresponsibility, the grandfather of a student who had appeared for second PU exams in March this year, has lodged a complaint with the Director of Pre-University Education holding the officials responsible for the plight of his grandson, who underwent mental trauma resulted in him (student) scoring less marks.

G.L. Nagaraj Urs, a resident of J.P. Nagar 'E' Block, in his complaint to the PUE Board Director, said that his grandson S. Nischay Urs, a second PU students was allotted two centres for the second PU exam, which mentally disturbed him and ultimately resulted in him scoring only 69 per cent marks, when he was actually capable of scoring 95 percent marks.

Trouble began when Nischay Urs who studied PUC at Mysore Central Public PU College in Saraswathipuram, was issued admission ticket, according to which he was required to appear for Kannada, English, Physics paper at Delta PU College in Saraswathipuram and Chemistry, Maths and Computer Science papers at Kuvempunagar Government PU College.

After receiving the admission ticket, Nischay along with his father Sashikant Raj Urs went in search of Delta PU College Exam Centre on the exam day.

But even as their search for the Centre was proving to be futile, someone told them that the Delta PU College Centre was indeed Mysore Central Public PU College, where Nischay studied. But to their utter surprise, the Centre had no name board mentioning it as Delta PU College. After finding the Centre at last, Nischay went inside the Centre when to his shock, found his admission ticket number missing on the notice board. When Nischay asked the College Authorities, about this, the Authorities directed him to another Centre located about 2 kms away.

Later, Nischay went to the directed Centre, when the Police stopped him from entering as the admission ticket had the name of Delta PU College as the Centre. But Nischay somehow managed to enter the Centre and enquired with the authorities, who after hearing his plight, allowed him to write all the six papers at a different centre.

The frantic search for his Centre and the resulting tension caused Nischay mental trauma so much so that Nischay who had high expectations of scoring 95 percent marks, only succeeded in scoring 69 percent marks, the complaint said.

The complaint further said that the much lower score had shattered Nischay's hopes of studying engineering and with it, his dreams of a professional career.

Nagaraj Urs has urged the Department to consider this case seriously and take appropriate action against irresponsible officials and as well ensure that such incidents do not recur in the future.

stab him, hugged his father in a bid to escape from his wrath and in the process, the knife is said to have accidentally pierced Nanjegowda's stomach.

Seeing Nanjegowda bleeding severely, his wife Yashodhamma was rushing him to the hospital, where Nanjegowda breathed his last midway, according to the complaint lodged by Yashodhamma with Kikkeri Police. Manjegowda has gone absconding soon after the incident.

Dy.SP B.S. Mohan Kumar, Circle Inspector K.N. Sudhakar and ASI M.H. Rekhabai visited the spot. Kikkeri Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

Mysuru, June 2 (PM&DM)- In a novel way to make Mysuru a plastic-free city, 'Hasti,' an initiative of students from DMS School in city, have started a green initiative to create awareness about using cloth bags.

The initiative was launched at the vegetable market along M.G. Road here this morning in the presence of Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Shilpa Nag and Corporator M.V. Ramprasad.

About 300 cloth bags are kept on a stand, for people to use the bags for free for carrying vegetables to their homes and return them to the stand the next time they come to the market for purchase, according to S. Tejaswini, who along with her fellow student Shivashankar Ambedkar, leads the group of students who have formed 'Hasti.'

All the students in the group have completed twelfth standard in Humanities at DMS School of Regional Institute of Eduction (RIE) this year.

Explaining the concept, Tejaswini said that a survey was conducted on plastic covers used by people to carry vegetables and fruits at markets, following which it was decided to provide cloth bags to create awareness among the public to prevent plastic use.

Lessons from the WILD

Human beings may be considered the more evolved species on Earth but there is no denying that the animals who can't talk are also quite intelligent and display rare traits while leading a solitary life or while living in groups. From the tiniest ant to the mighty elephant, animals of all kinds can teach us valuable life lessons.

One only needs to pay some attention to learn many important lessons that we may have forgotten in the haste of our normal daily lives. Whether it is teaching us how to survive in the harsh reality of the jungle to proving their loyalty, there's a lot we, humans, can learn from animals, says avid wildlife photographer from Mysuru M.K. Mukesh.

Red-wattled Lapwing (Vanellus Indicus)

Red Wattled Lapwing chick

These birds are called "Tittiba" in Kannada and they are found everywhere, from forests to our neighbourhoods. They are not as skilled as many other birds in building their nests. In fact, they don't have an idea of building one at all.

Their breeding season is usually from February-March to July-August. During this period the soil is parched and they select a place near a pond or even where a pond existed during monsoon, to lay their eggs. Or a place where there is marble-sized pebbles around. They lay their eggs, usually 3-4, among these pebbles and this makes it difficult for predators to spot the eggs among these pebbles.

As the eggs are not totally safe like other birds' eggs in their nests, parent birds keep themselves awake 24x7 to watch them over. They start giving out loud calls at the very sight of an intruder like a mongoose, a jackal or even a dog at any point of time forcing other animals to be alert. So, these birds are nick-named "policemen of the jungle."

Whenever the parent birds spot any intrusion, they fly away from the eggs and start giving out loud calls and behave like they are trying to protect the eggs at that place. Hearing the calls, the intruder goes to that place to find eggs and not finding any, goes on its way. Hence, the eggs are safe here. This is one of their survival skills. After the eggs hatch, the chicks, by instinct, hide in a depression in the ground whenever the parents give loud calls in unison at the sight of an intruder. This is another skill of survival.

Red Wattled Lapwing

These birds are known to forecast rain. Suppose the birds lay their eggs on a flat surface that means rains are not round the corner and if they lay their eggs on an elevated place that means the rains will shortly start. The logic is in an elevated place, eggs do not get washed away as they are caught between pebbles.

LESSON: Try to develop survival skills even under most vulnerable conditions.

Baya Weaver Bird (Ploceus Philippinus)

Baya's Nest

They are the best-known natural weavers and are called 'Geejaga' in Kannada. As monsoon approaches, these specialist weavers become active in nest-building. This skill is not ordained on the females. It is only the males which are blessed with this skill. Both sexes look almost alike in non-breeding season, more or less resembling a female house sparrow. During the mating season, the males attain a yellow plumage on its head and breast regions, slightly extending up to its back.

Male Baya building the nest

They feed on food grains such as standing paddy crops and fallen seeds of different varieties. They are known to raid standing paddy crops for which they are considered enemies of farmers. They are also known as farmer-friendly because they also feed on insects.

Males start building nests alone using thick blades of grass or paddy strands. The nest contains a living chamber and the entrance is a vertical tube downwards. This architecture is to keep predators at bay. Half way through the construction, the male starts attracting passing females. The fertile females come and inspect the under-construction nest for safety and security of eggs and chicks. If the female is not satisfied with the nest, she simply rejects the offer and flies off.

If she is satisfied with the nest, the mating rituals take place. During the gestation period, the male finishes the nest. Only the females incubate the eggs but feeding the chicks is done by both parents.

Once the family starts, the female fetches a pinch of wet soil from a nearby paddy field and sticks it to the wall in the living chamber and then it brings a glow worm (Minchu hula in Kannada) and sticks it to the wet soil. The worm thus stuck, cannot fly away but keeps glowing all night. The family thus has a light for the night in their home.

LESSON: When a small bird tests the skills of her would-be mate, a prospective bride should also do the same for her safety.

Gray Hornbill (Ocyceros Birostris)

Gray Hornbill

The bird's bill (beak) is almost half the size of its rest of the body. This is one of the seven sub-species of hornbills found in India and is commonly found everywhere including our neighbourhood. These birds relish anything from fruits and berries to insects, invertebrates, worms, reptiles like lizards or small snakes or a frog and mice. They are almost arboreal but for a few occasions when they come down to floor to feed on fallen fruits, mice or scorpions.

These birds can live up to 25 years. When the birds attain adulthood, they select a mate which is for life. They always pair for life and remain loyal. Both male and female will not pair and mate with other ones even after the death of any one of them. Loyalty personified.

Once the female gets pregnant, they select a cavity in a tree as their home. As pregnancy advances, the female enters the cavity and shuts herself inside by covering the entrance with mud or droppings, ably assisted by the male. A small opening is left to feed. The female and the chicks usually numbering 1-4 remain inside until the chicks are able to fly. During this period, the male takes up the responsibility of feeding the female and the chicks. So they select a nesting place close to a fruiting tree. As the risks may be, if for any reason, the male dies during this period, the entire family faces death.

Male Horbill Feeding

LESSON: Loyalty is the "Mantra" where divorces are so common amongst us.

Indian Wild Dogs (Dholes)

The Previlaged Alpha Male

These cute little dogs always stay in a pack ranging from 4-15 members. They are small in size — comparable to a 12-month-old country dog. Because of their small size and killing patterns, they can never survive in the wild alone.

As is the case in our human society, where the head of the family has a few privileges, the head of the pack of wild dogs called the Alfa male has a few privileges. Only the Alfa male has the right to lift its hind leg to urinate, the other males of the pack should sit and urinate like females. Only the Alfa male has the right to mate with the Alfa female. (Because of this reason, the other members of the pack which are in heat, move out to mate and form a separate pack of their own)

These dogs lead a unique lifestyle. No two females will litter at the same time in a single pack. One more unique display in their lifestyle is that they practice babysitting. Whenever there is a litter, the mother, accompanied by another member, stays back in the den to take care of the pups while the other members embark on a hunt. These dogs have a sack in their throats. When the pack members return from a successful hunt with their sacks filled with fresh flesh, they pour it out to the baby-sitters and the pups to feed on.

When the pack members feel hungry, they start demanding for food by licking the mouth of the Alfa male repeatedly. Getting the information, the Alfa male sets off on a kill followed by the other members of the pack. Once the Alfa male locks the target and starts running towards the target in high speed, the other members follow the leader in a slower speed so as not to tire oneself. When the Alfa male gets tired, the second in line picks up speed and continues in full speed, then the third and so on. But during this chase, the prey cannot afford to lose speed and ultimately surrenders and succumbs. Because of this strategy, wild dogs are termed as most successful hunters.

Wild Dog

LESSON: Their lifestyle and survival strategies — unity and discipline.

Asian Elephant (Elephas Maximus)

Elephants are highly social animals. They celebrate the birth of a calf and mourn the death of a member of the herd. They even greet their cousins or their counterparts affectionately with their trunks when they come across each other. They caress the pregnant in labour with their trunks and encourage her to be calm. Once she delivers, the herd members even help her clean the newborn. An adult elephant needs up to 170 kilos of fodder each day and 70 litres of water daily. This is why they need to feed up to 18 hours a day. During dry and hotter days, the moisture content in the vegetation is less and this forces the elephants to feed for more hours.

So, the herd migrates to greener pastures. The traditional migration route may be hundreds of years old for the herd and the knowledge of these routes are passed on to the next generation.

Their memory being extraordinary, elders lead the herd in the same route year after year. Other members of the herd simply follow the leader.

LESSON: Obedience and respect for elders which is becoming extinct in younger generation in humans.

Leopard (Panthera Pardus)

They are the most adaptable and intelligent among the big cats. Leopards can thrive even in our neighbourhood without even giving us a clue of its presence. Their adaptation is such that they can survive on small birds or rodents in the absence of bigger preys.

They are always alert due to fear of bigger cats and even wild dogs. In case of a face-off with any of these, their ability to climb trees saves them from danger. They even take their heavy prey to tree tops to feed and protect it from tigers or wild dogs.

They have to first locate the prey, reach a safe and close distance from the prey without letting it know of its approach, stalk and strike at the right moment. All these take a lot of patience, precision and perseverance. Patience first, followed by the other two. The multiplying numbers of these cats goes to show that they are masters of all these skills.

LESSON: Learn to be patient before taking a decision. This can yield good results.

Lecture series on Kautilya's Arthashastra at Nadabrahma Sabha from June 3

Kautilya, also known as Vishnugupta or Chanakya, who was supposed to be Chief Minister of Chandragupta Maurya, authored Arthashastra in 4th century BC.

It is believed that this work is based on Yajnavalkya Sutras. This work can be considered as an encyclopaedia of Indian Public Administration.

This work was first discovered by R. Shamashastry of Oriental Research Institute (ORI), Mysuru and was first published by him in 1909. Publication of this book brought fame to Mysuru all over the world.

It is believed that this book was written in 325-295 BC. The book describes Public Administration, Rajadharma, characters and behaviours of Mantris, Administration of law, property inheritance, taxation, Tantra Pratitantra etc. Several of administrative suggestions are still relevant.

The lecture series will be highly useful to our Corporators, politicians and, of course, students of various disciplines.

Parampare, as an organisation, has established a tradition of arranging lecture series as a regular feature in Mysuru every year for the past several years. These lectures have become popular not only for their inspiring content but also for the fact they stick strictly to the time schedule.

As the name implies, the topics touch upon issues that reflect our art, culture, tradition, values etc., which have come through ages. In essence, they tell absorbing stories, events and historical anecdotes inherited from generation to generation. Though in modern times, the life pattern has gone through a sea change, the lectures and demonstrations convey a message how they can be adapted to suit the present to live a life of joy and contentment.

The present series of lectures between June 3 and June 8 (daily 6 pm to 8 pm at Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha) is on the topic of Kautilya's *Arthashastra. Here are the programme details:

June 3: Inauguration by Prof. C.K.N. Raja, retired professor of Law, followed by introductory lecture 'Historical background of Arthashastra' to be delivered by Shatavadhani Dr. R. Ganesh,

June 4 and 5: Lecture on 'Discovery of Manuscript, Shamashastry's contribution and contents of Arthashastra' by Dr. T.V. Satyanarayana, retired Deputy Director of ORI, who has served for more than 30 years as a research scholar at ORI and serving as Honorary Advisor. He has been working as Hon. Editor of Sudharma, Sanskrit daily, for about 30 years.

June 6: Lecture on 'Other Sanskrit works based on Arthashastra' by Arjun Bharadwaj, who is a poet, engineer and musician. He is a polyglot, well-versed in Sanskrit, Kannada, English, Greek and German languages. # A powerful voice with effective vocalisation

N.R. Prashanth seen presenting vocal recital at Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on May 28. He was accompanied by Nalina Mohan on violin, Cheluvaraju on mridanga and S. Manjunath on ghata.

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

N.R. Prashanth sang for Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on the 28th of May. The occasion was 154th Jayantyotsava of Mysore Vasudevacharya, in whose name the auditorium is built. He was accompanied by Nalina Mohan from Bengaluru on the violin, Cheluvaraju, also from Bengaluru, on mridanga and S. Manjunath from Mysuru on the ghata.

Prashanth has many major assets to his credit — good coaching from stalwarts like Titte Krishna Iyengar, Neela Ramgopal and R. Vishweshwaran, a masculine and yet controlled voice, perfect shruti alignment, a powerful voice, sense of using gamakas in the right proportion, good imaginative skills, dignified stage manners, a commendable hold on laya and the experience of performing for prestigious concert platforms.

Take for example his Ranjani, which had great appeal, in which he presented Mysore Vasudevacharya's 'Pranamamyaham Shri PraaNa natham Nirantaram' in Mishra Triputa tala for which short but intellectual swaras were developed. If Arabhi is hardly taken up by musicians today as a main item because it has less scope to elaborate, Prashanth proved it wrong. The ragalapana was marked with raga purity. 'O Rajeevaksha' by Tyagaraja was rendered beautifully with also a neraval and well-knit swaras at 'Nera Nee NaPai' followed by taniyavartanam. Nalina on the violin, Cheluvaraju on mridanga and Manjunath on ghata added a lot of sheen to the concert.

The RTP in Shanmukhapriya was set to Trishra Jati Jhampe tala. The raga was full of essence though the artiste faltered a couple of times during the tana rendition. 'Sharavana Bhava Guhane Shiva Shanmukhane' was the pallavi, rendered in a simple and traditional manner with no colours added.

A devaranama of Purandara Dasa, 'Kaliyugada mahimeyu Kanabanteega jalajaksha Shree Venkatesha' which is so well composed that it could even be taken up as a sub-main item in a concert and a tillana by Mysore Vasudevacharya formed the concluding part of the concert.

Book release and Veena concert

Surabhi Ganakala Mandira, Mysuru, had recently organised a book release ceremony and a veena concert as part of its quarterly programme in the auditorium of Sri Ramakrishna Ashrama in Yadavagiri. Noted music scholar and Founder-Secretary of 'Ragadhana', Udupi, Prof. V. Aravinda Hebbar, released the book titled 'Karnataka Sangeethada Nalku Deepagalu', penned by Lalitha Srinivasan. The book is a Kannada translation of the original work, 'Madras Quartet' in English by Indira Menon, a disciple of legendary musician T. Brinda.

Prof. Hebbar spoke about the book and lauded the efforts of the translator and the publishers for bringing out such a valuable book to the music-lovers in Kannada. Even though the book narrates the details of the struggles faced by the legendary women musicians, T. Brinda, M.S. Subbulakshmi, D.K. Pattammal and Dr. M.L. Vasanthakumari in the male-dominated field and their achievements, it contains an authentic mention of the development of Karnatak music over the past three centuries, with special thrust on how women artistes firmly captured the limelight facing all odds. It also documents the evolution of various music systems existed in South India even before the birth of Karnatak and Hindustani music systems.

City's noted art patron K.V. Murthy and Dr. Sukanya Prabhakar, founder of Surabhi Ganakalamandira, were present on the stage. The programme was followed by a soothing and soulful veena concert by senior artiste, Geetha Shyamprakash of Bengaluru, accompanied by G.S.Ramanujan on mridanga and S. Manjunath on ghata.

ICC World Cup-2019

New Zealand's superb bowling dismantles fragile Sri Lanka

Matt Henry

Cardiff, June 2- New Zealand's superb bowling display saw them dismantle a fragile Sri Lanka and open their World Cup campaign with a dominant 10-wicket win in Cardiff.

After being put in to bat, Sri Lanka collapsed to 136 all out in 29.2 overs, with New Zealand fast bowlers Matt Henry and Lockie Ferguson taking three wickets each.

Only captain and opener Dimuth Karunaratne resisted, carrying his bat for 52 not out.

Black Caps openers Martin Guptill (73 not out) and Colin Munro (58 not out) raced to their target in just 16.1 overs in aggressive yet composed fashion.

Kane Williamson's side also impressed in the field in a convincing victory to begin their bid to go one better than losing to Australia in the 2015 final.

The manner of their defeat reinforces expectations that a limited Sri Lanka side will struggle in this tournament and they now face a tough match against Afghanistan on Tuesday.

BRIEF SCORES

Sri Lanka: 136 in 29.2 overs (Karunaratne 52 n.o., Kushal Perera 29, Thisara Perera 27, Matt Henry 3 for 29, Lockie Ferguson 3 for 22) lost to New Zealand: 137 for no loss in 16.1 overs (Martin Guptill 73 n.o., Colin Munro 58 n.o.); Player of the Match: Matt Henry.

Australia beat Afghanistan

Bristol: David Warner led holders Australia to a routine seven-wicket win against Afghanistan with an unbeaten 89 at the start of their World Cup defence.

Chasing a below-par 208, Warner steered his side to victory with 91 balls to spare after captain Aaron Finch helped set the tone with 66 off 49. Pat Cummins and Adam Zampa took three wickets apiece as Afghanistan were bowled out for just 207.

Najibullah Zadran (51) impressed, however, with some powerful strokeplay.

Australia, who came into this tournament in resurgent form with overseas series victories against India and Pakistan, have now won nine one-day internationals in a row. The last time that happened was during their victorious 2015 World Cup campaign; a run which began with a 275-run win against Afghanistan.

SCORES

Afghanistan: 207 in 38.2 overs (Najibullah Zardan 51, Gulbadin Naib 31, Rahamat Shah 43, Rashid Khan 27, Pat Cummins 3 for 40, Adam Zampa 3 for 60, Marcus Stoinis 2 for 37) lost to Australia: 209 for 3 in 34.5 overs (David Warner 89 n.o., Aaron Flinch 66); Player of the Match: David Warner.

At the new set up at Melukamanahalli, the Department has arranged drinking water, washrooms, e-toilets, ticket counter, vehicle parking, chairs and canteen services.

Though no new buildings have been constructed, a temporary ticket counter has been set up and internet connectivity and Wi-Fi connection have been provided. Permanent structures will come up at Melukamanahalli and there is a Rs.8 crore project for that, said officials.

People who stay in cottages near the old ticket counter will get into safari vehicles from the old reception area.

There are 5 VIP cottages, 17 cottages with two beds, 1 cottage with 4 beds, three dormitories with 20 beds, 9 beds and 10 beds each. All the private resorts who take tourists on safari as part of their holiday package must come to Melukamanahalli safari start point.

GPS tracking

Also, the Department has reorganised safari routes to prevent overcrowding of vehicles inside the forest. Earlier, safari vehicles used to travel on one or two routes.

But now, there are five routes and on a single route, there will be a maximum of four vehicles during peak hours.

All the vehicles are fitted with GPS (Global Positioning System) device to check haphazard movement of safari vehicles.

Though there are norms that the safari vehicles should ferry tourists only to the places mentioned by the Department, drivers have been violating the rules. Now the drivers have been warned not to go beyond the prescribed schedule.

High revenue in May 2019

Bandipur Tiger Reserve gas earned revenue of Rs.1,35,00,600 in May 2019 compared to May last year when it earned 1,08,00,000 in May 2018. This revenue jump of Rs.27 lakh is surprising as there was a notion that tourists may not come to Bandipur due to the recent forest fire that destroyed thousands of acres of forests.

In all, over 21,854 visitors and 3,640 children visited the Tiger Reserve in May this year. In addition, 27 students and 130 foreigners visited the park.

WORD OF THE DAY

Yen

Pronunciation: YEN.

Meaning: A strong desire or propensity; also urge, craving.
Origin: Although yen suggests no more than a strong longing these days (as in "a yen for a beach vacation"), at one time someone with a yen was in deep trouble indeed. The first meaning of yen was an intense craving for opium. The late 19th-century English term evolved from the Cantonese yīn-yáhn, which itself combines yīn, meaning "opium," and yáhn, meaning "craving." In English, the Chinese syllables were transformed to yen-yen and ultimately abbreviated to simply yen. Eventually, yen was generalised to the more innocuous meaning of "a strong desire," and the link to drug cravings was lost. (The name for the Japanese currency comes from Japanese en, an earlier Japanese word meaning "circle," referring to the shape of a coin.)
Example: Charlie Partin grew up in the Florida Panhandle, lived for 20 years in New Port Richey, leaving his mark as an architect and an artist, before following a yen to create sculptures in the rolling hills of southeast Nebraska. — Michele Miller, The Tampa Bay Times, 16 Feb. 2019.

THE ODD WORD

Yarborough

Hand of cards containing no card above a nine.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

You can't teach an old dog new tricks

Meaning: Old dogs (and people) learn less well than the young.

Origin: This must be one of the oldest proverbial sayings in the language. There are many early citations of it (in Heywood, 1546 etc.) and many of those refer to it as an 'old saying'. The earliest example of it in print is in John Fitzherbert's The boke of husbandry, 1534:
...and he [a shepherd] muste teche his dogge to barke whan he wolde haue hym, to ronne whan he wold haue hym, and to leue ronning whan he wolde haue hym; or els he is not a cunninge shepeherd. The dogge must lerne it, whan he is a whelpe, or els it will not be: for it is harde to make an olde dogge to stoupe.
By 'stoop', Fitzherbert meant 'put its nose to the ground to find a scent', as was the meaning of the verb in the 16th century.

Doctors at Columbia Asia Hospital successfully perform ABO incompatible kidney transplant

Mysuru, June 2 (KS)- Doctors at Columbia Asia Hospital, Mysuru, have successfully performed two rare Blood Group Incompatible (ABOi) kidney transplants recently, on two men, who have been on dialysis. In both the cases, their respective wives donated the kidneys and gave them a new lease of life. In an ABOi Incompatible Kidney Transplant, the blood group of the donor and the recipient do not match.

In the first case, Ramakrishna, a 65-year-old, Businessman hailing from Mandya, was diagnosed with kidney failure in the year 2012. Prior to consulting Columbia Asia Hospital, Mysuru, he was treated at multiple Hospitals.

The doctors later suggested for an ABOi kidney transplant, where Dr. P.M. Uthappa, Consultant Nephrologist, Columbia Asia Hospital, Mysuru, prepared him with various treatments to reduce the risk of rejection. The procedure was successful and both the donor and recipient are doing fine. A few minutes before the kidney transplantation, the couple celebrated their marriage anniversary at the bedside. Ramakrishna's wife Mamatha donated her kidney to him.

In the second case, Kodandaramaiah, a 64-year-old retired LIC agent was diagnosed with Kidney failure in the year 2018 and was initiated on dialysis. His 53-year-old wife Kamalamma, whose blood group was A positive was willing to donate her kidney but was not a match. After extensive counselling on ABO incompatible transplant, the couple were prepared and taken up for the surgery. Post-surgery, both Kodandaramaiah and Kamalamma are doing fine and are under medications.

Dr. Uthappa said, "ABOi procedure opens up possibilities of transplant for patients who have incompatible donors but it is a lot of hard work. ABOi transplants are tricky, complicated and very technical. We are happy that it all worked out for our patients. I take this opportunity to thank the huge team of healthcare professionals who worked relentlessly during the pre-conditioning stage."

Speaking after undergoing ABOi Incompatible Kidney Transplant, Ramakrishna said, "Life came to a standstill after I was diagnosed with kidney failure 7 years ago. I visited multiple Hospitals looking for solutions and Dialysis, though lifesaving, was draining me emotionally and financially. I had not heard of ABOi transplant can be done and that too locally in Mysuru. I just trusted my Doctors and went for it."

Another patient Kodandaramaiah thanked the team of doctors for performing the surgery and his wife for taking the brave step to donate her kidney.
